

CONSENT TO THE USE OF ELECTRONIC MEDIA & WAIVE ADVICE

I agree that all necessary information as well as the bank mail (account and deposit statements, statements or other communications) on other durable data media than paper will be transmitted to me, as far as this is permitted according to the regulations of the Securities Trading Act. I expressly declare that my contractual partners waive any advice. FXFlat only addresses the offer to well-informed and experienced investors. The information can only be provided by providing standardized information material (if requested). There is no individual consultation. There is no legal or tax advice to the customer. The customer bears sole responsibility for compliance with legal and tax obligations.

The investment decision is made by the investor solely on the basis of the information available to him. If FXFlat provides information that goes beyond the disclosure requirements of the WpHG (Security Trading Act) (market comments, charts, press articles, analyses, etc.), this information is provided without guarantee.

With my signature in the account application, I agree to use the course data only for my own use and to report the change of my status (private or business) to FXFlat.

FXFlat would like to point out that you, as an experienced customer, are responsible for obtaining information about any capital measures. This and other information, such as Delivery conditions are available in your account management („Message Center“ or „Tools“) and can therefore issue appropriate instructions.
